

Lyman Run State Park

Lyman Run State Park is situated on 595 acres of mixed northern hardwood forested land in scenic Potter County. Maple and cherry trees dominate the land that surround the 45-acre Lyman Run Lake.

Construction of the original Lyman Run Dam began in 1951, with the park opening to the public in 1955. That original dam was determined to be unsafe in the late 1990's and was subsequently destroyed with no plans to be replaced. Due, in part, to an enormous letter writing campaign from local residents and visitors, a new dam was built and the park re-opened for visitors in 2008.

The park was named for Major Isaac Lyman, an American Revolutionary War soldier believed to be the second permanent settler in Potter County. The land that makes up the park has a rich history in the lumber boom, the Civilian Conservation Corps, and even World War II prisoners of war.

Currently, Lyman Run State Park offers a wide variety of recreational opportunities, whether you visit the park for one day or two weeks. We have 6 miles of hiking trails (with access to the many trails of the Susquehannock State Forest), ATV Trail, fishing, picnicking, swimming, boating, hunting, snowmobiling, ice fishing, ice skating and camping. The park has two separate campgrounds with a total of 35 RV and tent campsites. The campgrounds have modern washhouses with hot water, flush toilets, and showers. The majority of our campsites have electricity and many of them are pet-friendly. We also have designated campsites available for people with disabilities.

Friends of Lyman Run State Park

The Friends group will help organize volunteer corps of those people who would like to see beneficial changes made at the park to enhance the stewardship of the natural resources within the park and to help park visitors explore and discover the natural beauty that is Lyman Run State Park.

Program & Project Development

Some areas the group will be looking to develop are: Summer swimming lessons at the beach; a Women's program series (4-6 sessions during the summer); a wildlife monitoring program; a Walking/Hiking Club; and winter programs including ice skating and sledding. The group will also hold several workbees during the year.
