

“There’s an app for that.”

Obviously, using your phone to chat or text while you’re hiking or riding your bike is behavior we would discourage under all but the most emergency situations. However, your smartphone or tablet can be a valuable planning and tracking tool before and after your excursion and be a learning tool to boot.

As we discovered during the months of the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020, technology was both a lifeline to staying connected with family and friends during restrictive times and a source of information on how to access the outdoors. It also made it possible for many of us to learn where we could go in the parks and forests to access the kind of (permitted and encouraged) outdoor exercise that made it possible to overcome the stress and uncertainty we all faced.

Under any circumstances (not just pandemic ones), a good app can connect a user to an understanding of the natural world—think bird or plant identification guides—or help someone become a citizen scientist through recording observations while enjoying a favorite park or forest.

Your fitness may be improved through the use of an app that keeps track of your miles traveled and help other, similarly-inclined enthusiasts find and enjoy a favorite place.

Keep your own counsel (and notes) about your adventures, or share them with the world at large. However you might choose to put technology to use, we think you’ll find that there’s a downloadable tool for your favorite outdoor pursuit.

If YOUR favorite app is not included in our list, please feel free to share with us on our social media (Facebook.com/PAParksandForests, twitter.com/PAPFF, or Instagram.com/PAParksandForests) or email us at office@paparksandforests.org.

List developed by Angelica Brill, PPF's summer intern from Penn State University in 2021. Angelica is a double-major at PSU concentrating in Community, Environment, and Development and Spanish.

The work was funded in part through a Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, Bureau of Recreation and Conservation, Community Conservation Partnerships Program grant.

The mission of the Pennsylvania Parks and Forests Foundation is to inspire stewardship of Pennsylvania's state parks and forests.

Vision: To be the trusted voice and advocate to sustain and enhance Pennsylvania's state parks and forests.

Since 1999, the Pennsylvania Parks and Forests Foundation has acted as the official non-profit partner of Pennsylvania's state parks and forests. Building a volunteer base, funding innovative programs in education and recreation, working with the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, and speaking out (and helping you speak out) in support of our public lands takes many forms and lots of hours and enthusiasm. We have them. We need you!
